

210 (TRANSPORTATION) MOTOR CARRIER
FREIGHT INVOICE

CHARGE CODE LIST

UPDATED: 12/15/2016

As a result of Lowe's Transportation Management System (TMS) Re-platform project, there are key changes to the way we do business and interact with carriers. One of the major changes includes the charge codes sent in the EDI 210 Motor Carrier Freight Invoice.

EDI 210 Charge Code Standardization

- In conjunction with the re-platform, a standardized list of accepted EDI 210 charge codes will be adopted. Lowe's Master Data has strict restrictions as to the EDI 210 naming conventions that must be followed. As a result, we have created the below table of approved charge codes to be utilized by all carriers. These codes can begin being used any time after June 27th, 2016 and Lowe's is requesting that they be implemented by our carrier partners as soon as possible. Failure to implement by September 1st, 2016 may result in invoices being rejected and payments being delayed. Note that these new charge codes represent a concatenation of the EDI 210 L1_08 and L1_03 data elements that occurs when Lowe's processes your invoice. THIS OCCURS DURING PROCESSING AT LOWE'S – PLEASE CONTINUE TO SEND THE L1-03 AND L1-08 ELEMENTS SEPARATELY (Ex: L11.35*PM*81000*LHS\). ONLY THE COMBINATION OF CODES BELOW WILL BE ACCEPTED INTO LOWE'S FREIGHT PAY SYSTEM. Data integrity by carriers is essential to enable a seamless process and the key carrier benefit is a more streamlined payment process. As a reminder, all EDI 210s must adhere to Lowe's EDI standards as published on LowesLink. Again, failure to do so will result in electronic invoices being rejected and payments being delayed.
